MeetingWords

MeetingWords is a simple text editor for the web.

Your text is saved on the web, and more than one person can edit the same document at the same time. Everybody's changes are instantly reflected on all screens.

Work together on meeting notes, brainstorming sessions, homework, team programming and more!

Create public pad
No sign-up, start writing instantly

Next Steps

- Post meeting notes to the wiki

Email to the Group
MeetingWords worked out great for our brainstorming session. Tip: you can create a pad with any web address you like – just type it after the "!" in <http://meetingwords.com/>

Chat Log:

April 19, 2010

- Sharon: Hi Nancy - I like the side backchannel! 21:24
- Nancy: I do too. A group can find its practices and rhythms with both parts of the tool. 21:26
- Tony: Thanks, Nancy and Peter - this has been fun! 21:29
- Nancy: Thanks, Tony 21:26
- Pete: Thanks Tony! 21:26

Highlighted edits: Each author has their own highlight color.

Instantly updated: Get everyone on the same page at the same time.

Easy undo: Every change is saved on the web and can easily be undone.

Voice Typing with Google Docs:

Tools/Voice Typing: Use for single words when students are typing paragraphs. Students warn their neighbors, "I'm using the microphone," so it doesn't pick up nearby noise. First time through, you will get a permission message to access the microphone.

Easy access to accented letters and other special characters.

Typing in accented letters or special characters on a PC keyboard is a pain in the neck. This simple Chrome extension aims to make that task slightly easier.

The extension button displays a four-by-four grid of characters. Clicking on a character copies it to the clipboard. Pressing the shift key does what you would expect: it toggles the grid between lowercase and uppercase letters.

You can also use the keyboard to copy:

Screencastify:

Screencastify is a Chrome extension available for free in the App Store.

You can easily hit the record button on any open tab in Chrome. If you set it up to connect with your YouTube account, it is very easy to upload the video to YouTube. The extension sits in the upper right hand side of your browser, the one that looks like old film. You can also easily share the videos to your Google Classrooms.
